

TRACT SOLD BE CUT INTO VILLA SITES

Number of Suburban Homes to Be Erected in Sixteenth Street Heights.

The villa site movement which has developed rapidly since the announcement that George H. Earle, Jr., and Felix L. Smith, of Philadelphia, intended to take a hand in the development, still is progressing. A deal has just been closed whereby 2,000 square feet of ground on Sixteenth street, in Sixteenth street heights, will be subdivided into villa sites.

The property was sold by Robert E. Hester to a purchaser whose name is withheld for the present. It is understood that the purchaser contemplates the development of the tract on the Sixteenth street plan, and a number of suburban homes will be erected on the property.

Two other sales are reported today by the same firm. One of 10,000 square feet in the same subdivision and the other of 22,000 square feet in Fourteenth Street Terrace.

Urges Formation of

"Won't Societies" Here

In preaching on the subject, "Does Any One in Washington Determine Not To Know Wickedness?" in the Typographical Temple last night before the congregation of the Capital Baptist Church, the Rev. E. H. Swen said that Washington was "not wicked," if not more so, than the average city. He advocated, however, that "Christians here should organize a 'Won't Society,' the purpose of which would be to teach men and women to be strong enough to say: 'I won't know wickedness.'"

"There are a number of 'Won't Societies' in Congress," said the Rev. Swen. "Generally some of the Senators or Representatives get together, and agree that they won't vote for such and such a measure."

"If the Christians in Washington just had a 'Won't Society' there would be less evil here," he continued. "And people ask 'How does a preacher know evil?' Well, any one reading Washington's live and intelligent newspapers, and talking with all classes of people will soon find out that there is a great deal of wickedness here."

Convict Will Escape

Death for Assault

James W. Finley, the California convict, will escape the death penalty provided by the State penal code for assault by a convict, according to a decision rendered in this case today by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Finley was a life prisoner at the State penitentiary at Folsom, and on December 29, 1904, assaulted one R. J. Murphy. He was indicted under the State penal code and sentenced to death.

In an appeal he alleges this to be a "cruel and unusual punishment," such as forbidden in the Constitution. The supreme court of the State affirmed the sentence.

VICTIMS OF CRASH TO GET BUT LITTLE

Report on Defunct Mercantile-Railway Building and Loan Association Soon Will Be Filed
With Court.

WASHINGTON TIMES BUREAU,
ALEXANDRIA, VA., NOV. 6.

A report on the affairs of the defunct Mercantile-Railway Building and Loan Association, which has been anxiously awaited by the stockholders since the concern's collapse last January, shortly will be filed in corporation court, according to a statement made by Douglas Stuart, receiver, to a representative of The Times today.

"It is impossible to determine at this time," stated Mr. Stuart, "even an approximate amount which the shareholders will receive when a dividend is made, but it is certain that only a very small percentage of their investments will be recovered. All will be dealt with on the same footing, with the exception of those having savings accounts, who will be shown some preference."

The report is in charge of H. Noel Garner, special commissioner, appointed by the corporation court. He has employed Harry Kirk, James Bayne, and Thomas Bayne as expert accountants, who now are engaged in going over the books of the concern.

Mr. Garner stated that the accounts are in such a muddled condition that progress in this respect is difficult.

The trial of Lewis Hoof, treasurer and general manager of the concern, set for November 14, it is understood, will be postponed. This is due, principally, it is explained, to the fact that the accounts have not yet completed their work.

The investors in the building association were for the most part persons of very limited means who had invested their savings of years with the idea of receiving a suitable return in the future. Its failure consequently, worked a great hardship in many quarters.

The building laws of this city are receiving considerable criticism from contractors and property owners in this work.

Board of Trade May

Aid Pension Fight

The Board of Trade is expected to line up with the Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants' Association in the campaign which is forming to put the police and firemen's fund upon an adequate basis.

The question is to be brought up at the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors, which will be held this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. A recommendation also will be included in the annual report of the committee on public order, of which Walter A. Brown is chairman, at the annual meeting next week.

Secretary Thomas Grant, of the Chamber of Commerce, is gathering data for use of the committee in presenting the case to Congress. As soon as this is completed the committee, of which William F. Gude is chairman, will hold another meeting.

Art Talks Arranged by

Washington Society

A series of lectures on art topics, arranged by the Washington Society of Fine Arts was announced today to take place at the Public Library. The first will be November 10, when Frank Jewett Mather, Jr., of Princeton University, will talk on Italian paintings.

Mr. Mather will give a second lecture on the same subject December 8.

Anna S. Schmidt will talk on French painting January 9, Charles H. Caffin, an author of books treating of art matters in a popular vein, will address the society February 13 and March 12. His subject will be Spanish paintings and Dutch art, in the order named.

Plumber Sues Plasterer.

Charging that he was assaulted by the defendant and permanently injured, William Duffy, a plumber, today filed suit in the District Supreme Court against William H. Lacy, Jr., a plasterer, for $10,000 damages. Attorney Walter P. Plumley filed the suit for the plaintiff.

City Engineer Dunn is given authority to grant permits for buildings within certain stated dimensions, but for other buildings and alterations, the city council must take action.

Joseph Bradley, a carpenter, appeared in police court today, charged with the violation of these regulations in raising the roof of a barn on Princess street, without proper authority. Mr. Bradley stated that he called on the city engineer, when it was made aware that a permit was necessary, and was there informed that the matter would have to be approved by the city fathers. As this body will not meet until next Tuesday, November 14, Bradley was, consequently, obliged to discontinue his work. Justice Caton stated that in view of the fact of Bradley's having stopped the work, that it was evident that he had no intention to defy the ordinances, and dismissed the case.

The following cases were disposed of in police court this morning: Joseph McAlone and Lewis Jones, trespassing on property of Southern railway, fined $5 each; Logan Smith, colored, assault on Albert Brown with a revolver, $10; John Lewis, colored, larceny of lumber, dismissed; the defendant, carrying concealed weapons, dismissed, and Joseph Hall, disorderly conduct, forfeited collateral.

Richard R. Rothwell, the four months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rothwell, died at the residence of his parents, 1237 Monroe street northwest, this morning. Funeral services will be held from the house tomorrow.

Dr. M. D. Delaney, of this city, who has been in attendance at the clinical congress of surgeons, held in Philadelphia during the past week, has been appointed a delegate from the Eighth district to the national convention of the American Medical Association, which is being held in Atlantic City, N. J.

Important matters are to be discussed and a full attendance is urged. Mrs. Richard B. Watrous, 1237 Monroe street northwest, is secretary of the guild.

Stops Hawking

And Snuffling—Banishes Catarrh Because it Kills

Catarrh Germs.

Breathe HYOMEI (pronounce it Hike-o-mei), kill the germs, and forever end the misery of catarrh.

Tens of thousands have done it; there is no earthly reason why you cannot do the same.

Breathe HYOMEI.

It is a medicine of purest Australian eucalyptus and Listerian antiseptics; it penetrates into the nooks and crevices of the mucous membrane, kills all germ life, and soothes and heals the soreness.

Stomach dosing, sprays and douches won't do; they don't reach the spot.

A complete HYOMEI outfit, which includes a bottle of HYOMEI and a hard rubber indestructible inhaler, costs $1.00. If further treatment is necessary, separate bottles of HYOMEI cost 50 cents. Simple instructions for use in each package. Sold by Henry Evans and James O'Donnell, corner drugists everywhere and guaranteed for catarrh, croup, asthma, etc.

VERMILYA WOMAN UNSHAKEN AT END OF THIRD DEGREE

Police Formally Accuse Her
of Poisoning Arthur Bissonette.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—In her own flat at 490 East Twenty-ninth street, the scene of the last two of ten mysterious deaths, with which her name is connected, Mrs. Louise Vermilya was formally arraigned today on the charge of murdering Policeman Arthur Bissonette.

The staging of a police court scene in the "death flat" was a dramatic climax to forty-eight hours of constant watching and questioning during which, by various methods, the police attempted in vain to obtain a confession from the woman.

As the charge of murder was read, Mrs. Vermilya lay upon her bed unmoved, stolid, yet smiling cynically at times. She was recovering from an attempt late Sunday night to commit suicide. Near by sat Miss Lydia Rivard, fiancée of Bissonette. Jealousy of Miss Rivard led Mrs. Vermilya to poison Bissonette, the police believe. Behind Miss Rivard sat a brother of Richard T. Smith, who, while living with Mrs. Vermilya as her husband, died under circumstances similar to Bissonette. Smith's body was exhumed at Henderson, Ill., and examination for traces of poison is being made today.

Nearby sat Dr. Ralph Vermilya, stepson of the accused woman, whose father and sister died in Mrs. Vermilya's home under mysterious circumstances.

Dr. L. L. Hertell, who signed Smith's certificate, told the police that from recent developments he believes poison will be found in Smith's body.
